

Jerry Olivo

Managing Director, Corporate Treasury
Citi

Jerry Olivo is the ICG Bank Treasurer leading treasury, liquidity and asset/liability management activities for the CTS, Private Bank and Corporate Lending businesses within Citibank. Olivo also has responsibility for funding and liquidity planning across all ICG Bank businesses. Previously he was the Global Head of Liquidity & Investment Product Management within CTS Treasury & Trade Services.

Prior to joining Citi in 2004 he was a Director at Bankers Trust/Deutsche Bank's Global Institutional Services group for 14 years where he held a variety of business and financial management positions within the Global Institutional Services Group. He then headed up the Financial Control function for the Bank of New York's U.S. Securities Services group prior to joining Citi.

Olivo has served on various industry groups and committees including the Federal Reserve's Intraday Liquidity Management Task Force. He received his undergraduate degree, majoring in Finance, from Arizona State University and an M.B.A. from New York University. In addition, he is a series 7, 63 registered securities representative with Citigroup Global Markets, Inc. and an AFP Certified Treasury Professional. In addition to serving on Department of Finance Advisory Board within ASU's W.P. Carey School of Business, he also leads Citi's recruiting activity at the school.